MANAGING INSECT AND MITE PESTS OF CROPS AND LIVESTOCK, B-1631

Bastiaan M. Drees, Extension Entomologist

This binder is sold as a "shell" in which to compile regionally relevant publications produced by the Entomology Program Unit of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service (TAEX). Provided with the binder is a list of publication titles and ordering information. Although this list will be periodically updated and includes dates for the most recent revision of individual publications, no guarantees are made that these publications are in stock or that more recent revisions have not appeared since the listing was last updated.

This publication is intended to help users of TAEX entomological publications more quickly and easily determine the extent of available information and obtain access to specific subject matter. However, the user must be sure that publications included are the most recent revisions available. Use of out-of-date information may result in the use of pest management practices and pesticides that may no longer be effective, available or legal.

HOW TO OBTAIN EXTENSION PUBLICATIONS

Publications issued by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service (TAEX) are distributed primarily through county Extension agents, who usually have offices in the county seats of Texas counties. Publications are printed in limited quantities, primarily for residents of Texas who are not enrolled in formal classes of colleges, universities, high schools or primary schools of any kind.

FREE COPIES: Individuals may order one copy of no more than five different titles free of charge at one time, except for the for-sale-only publications (see below). When ordering more than five different titles at one time, charges for individual additional publications will be imposed by the TAEX Distribution and Supply Center.

FOR-SALE-ONLY COPIES: Titles that are for-sale-only may be obtained only for the prices indicated per copy. No bulk order discounts are available.

QUANTITY SALES: For prices and ordering information, individuals or organizations wishing to purchase publications in quantity should contact:

TAEX Distribution and Supply Center
104 System Bldg.
Texas A&M University
College Station, Texas 77843-7101

A check payable to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in the correct amount should accompany all orders.

Method 2) Distribute the order form(s) at an event and have the client submit the order form and check/cash/money order to the TAEX Distribution and Supply Center, which will process the funds and return the for-sale item and receipt to the client.
